

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A vaginal delineator, capable of adjusting to varying lengths of the cervix and angles of the fornix is disclosed. A diaphragm for occluding the vagina, preventing leakage of carbon dioxide from the peritoneal cavity is attachable to the delineator. In an additional embodiment, the vaginal delineator comprises a cup to which a ring is pivotally attached. In this embodiment, the cup acts as the occlusion device.